

Placemaking and Community: Building Bridges with Our Environment

Faculty | David Dorenbaum, Giovanna Colombetti

Supporting Faculty | Mark Rego

Session 4 will dive into the psychoanalysis of unconsciousness and its role in the creation of architectural spaces. Departing on the premise that human experience is not limited by what is only conscious and that our everyday life is profoundly influenced by unconscious processes, Prof David Dorenbaum invites the attendees to a conversation along with Prof Giovanna Colombetti to understand how psychoanalytic practice can provide further insights about person-centred design, and in turn, how architecture can affect our unconscious life.